Dear Girlie

I am sending away a lot of my men tonight and the balance tomorrow. Later on in the night I am to command a party on a Plateau overlooking the Beach & remain there until all others have gone. – Then I get away if I can. – Don't you think I have the post of honor, and that if anything does happen, it will be worth it all. I think I shall get away O.K., but you will know ere you receive this. –

Goodbye Dear till I can write again. Give my love to Mother and all those who think of me.

Yours

George
