

He is a Lieutenant in the Royal Flying Corps, <sup>(British)</sup> now called the Royal Air Force; is attached to the Seaplane division
at Felixstowe, Suffolk, England; and has been in charge of a large sea plane in the North Sea. We hear from his last letter (Oct) that he has been made Commander, whether that is a rise in rank we do not know. With compliments & best wishes for new year
Yours faithfully
John Hadden

My son was 3 years at the University but did not take his degree!

Mr Barff M.A. &c
Registrar & Warden
The University
Sydney

Dear Mr Barff, I see from the newspapers that the University is forming an Honour Roll of students who took part in the war.
If my son, Stanley
A. Hadden, is eligible
I should like his name included.
